Appearance before the Standing Committee on Human Resources, Skills and Social Development and the Status of Persons with Disabilities

Dr. Katherine Smart
President of the Canadian Medical Association
March 28, 2022

Thank you for inviting us to appear today. The Canadian Medical Association (CMA) has consulted extensively with our members and found that there is strong support for the recommendations set out in the CMA's national strategy on health human resources (HRH) and for actions to improve the health system overall.

The CMA's national strategy on health HRH was developed with the participation of the Canadian Health Workforce Alliance (CHWA) and the Canadian Medical Association (CMA). It was developed after consultations with our members and with the support of the Canadian Council of Ministers of Health (CCMH).

The CMA's national strategy on health HRH is a comprehensive and integrated approach to addressing the health HRH needs of Canada. It is a framework for action that can be used by all levels of government, the health sector, and the public to improve the health system overall.

The recommendations in the CMA's national strategy on health HRH include:

1. Increasing the supply of health care providers
2. Improving the retention of health care providers
3. Improving the distribution of health care providers
4. Improving the quality of health care providers
5. Improving the efficiency of health care providers
6. Improving the accessibility of health care providers
