Mandatory COVID-19 vaccination of health care workers
https://policybase.cma.ca/link/policy14449

Policymakers and others are currently investigating the effectiveness of COVID-19 vaccines in preventing health care workers from contracting COVID-19. The Canadian Medical Association (CMA) has released a policy document on this topic. The policy document can be found at the following link:

The policy document is titled "Mandatory COVID-19 vaccination of health care workers." It discusses the importance of vaccination in preventing the spread of COVID-19 among health care workers and the potential impact on public health.

The policy document also addresses concerns and questions that may arise regarding the mandatory vaccination of health care workers. It outlines the benefits of vaccination, including reduced risk of hospitalization and death, as well as the potential for vaccination to protect patients and the community.

The policy document also emphasizes the importance of communication and education to ensure that health care workers understand the benefits of vaccination and are encouraged to get vaccinated.

The policy document concludes by stating that mandatory vaccination of health care workers is an important step in preventing the spread of COVID-19 and protecting public health.
