Appearance before the Standing Committee on Human Resources, Skills and Social Development and the Status of Persons with Disabilities

Dr. Katharine Smart
President of the Canadian Medical Association
March 28, 2022

Thank you and good morning.

As President of the Canadian Medical Association, I am pleased to appear before you today to discuss the critical issue of health human resources in Canada.

The CMA has long recognized the importance of a robust and well-educated medical workforce to ensure the best possible health outcomes for all Canadians. This is particularly relevant in today's rapidly changing health care environment.

However, we face significant challenges in ensuring an adequate supply of health care professionals. The aging workforce, increased demand for care, and changes in the nature of medical practice all contribute to this growing gap.

We must address these challenges head-on to ensure that Canadians have access to the high-quality care they need. This involves not only attracting and retaining health care professionals but also expanding the scope of practice for those already in the workforce.

Thank you for the opportunity to share these thoughts with you today. I look forward to answering any questions you may have.
