CMA Statement on Racism

CMA POLICY

CMA Statement on Racism

Race is a biological construct. It has no place in the medical field. Medical professionals are bound by their professional ethics and standards of conduct, which include the provision of equitable and unbiased care to all patients, regardless of their race, ethnicity, or background.

The provision of equitable care is essential to the maintenance of the public's trust in the medical profession. The provision of equitable care is also necessary to ensure that all patients receive the highest quality of care.

Medical professionals must be actively working to eliminate racism in the medical field. This includes taking steps to address systemic barriers that may prevent patients from receiving the care they need.

Medical professionals must also be actively working to educate themselves about the impact of racism on health outcomes. This includes taking steps to address the ways in which racism may influence medical decision-making.

Subject: CMA Statement on Racism

Dear [Name],

I am writing to share the CMA Statement on Racism, which outlines the organization's commitment to eliminating racism in the medical field.

The statement highlights the importance of providing equitable care to all patients, regardless of their race, ethnicity, or background. It also emphasizes the need to address systemic barriers that may prevent patients from receiving the care they need.

I hope this information is helpful.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

CMA POLICY

The evolving professional relationship between Canadian physicians and our health care system: Where do we stand?

Over the years, the power dynamics of the professional relationship between patients and the health care system have evolved. Physicians are now more accountable to the public, employers and regulatory bodies. The demands of the health care system have placed greater stress on physicians' work and personal lives. The pressures to deliver high-quality care while managing chronic disease and increasing costs continue to challenge the role of physicians in ensuring the delivery of effective and patient-centered care.

We have arrived at the point in the evolution of medical practice in Canada where physicians must be better prepared to deal with the ethical and professional challenges that come with these changes. Physicians and health care leaders are working to develop new models of care delivery that are patient-focused and responsive to the needs of the population. The Canadian Medical Association (CMA) supports efforts to engage physicians and other health care professionals in the development of new models of care delivery. This includes ensuring that physicians have the tools and support they need to provide high-quality care in a patient-centered way.

The CMA policy statement on the evolving professional relationship between Canadian physicians and our health care system acknowledges the challenges faced by physicians and supports efforts to improve the health care system for all Canadians.

HOW YOU CAN HELP

1. Stand with Black patients, challenging, passing, and removing when you see anti-Black racism.
2. Akin to those conversations: stand with support of your Black colleagues.
3. When your seniority is to allow more express, you should feel comfortable to express.
